Astoria entrepreneurs really stepped up to the plate this past year in terms of historic preservation, and they're being honored by the city.

The Astoria Landmarks Commission handed out six Dr. Edward Harvey Historic Preservation Awards for 2009, recognizing preservation efforts citywide by private property owners. This year four of the six were businesses.

Jason Palmberg, owner of 1055 Marine Drive LLC, received an award for restoration of the Occident Building at 1055 Marine Drive; Norblad LLC, co-owned by Brian Faherty and Paul Caruana, was awarded for the restoration of the canopy at the entrance of the Norblad Hotel at 433 14th St., (formerly called the Hideaway). Lewis Building LLC, owned by Lance Marrs, Brian Faherty, and Paul Caruana, was also honored for their restoration of the Commodore Hotel at 1412 Commercial St.

In the Uniontown District of Astoria, Nancy Montgomery and Tim Hurd received a Harvey Award for the restoration of the Finnish Meat Market Building at 279 Marine Drive, where their company, Columbia River Coffee Roasters, is now located.

The remaining two awards went to residential preservation projects: Edward and Karen Campbell for work done on their Craftsman-style home on 15th Street, circa 1907; and Mark Chadwick and Gigi Gray won for their restoration of another Craftsman home on 14th Street.
